MITSUBISHI-BUSAN KAISAINo stiff joints or aching back when you were young.Yet now you are at middle age, or perhaps a little older, your back aches "fit to break". There are sharp twinges of rheumatism in your muscles and joints. And you do not feel as well as thirty years ago, when you could romp with the youngsters
and feel that life was really worth living.
Why this great change?Age is not wholly to account for it, for we read in the newspapers every day, how people live to a hundred years of age in strong, vigorous health. And so can you, if you do as many thousands of others are careful to do, this is to keep your body in good health, eat with moderation, work reasonably, and take a reasonable amount of sleep.Yet even with care some people suffer from aches and pains of some kind, at one time or another. And those aches and pains when mean kidney trouble. Such symptoms as constipation, backache, pains in muscles and joints, scanty urine, and such miserable afflictions as rheumatism,
lumbago, sciatica, burning inflammation of the bladder, gravel and gout, are all symptoms of kidney trouble. If the kidneys are strong and healthy, these afflictions will not—cannot come to you, but if the kidneys are weak they are unable to do their proper work, and so the joints get stiff, and the back aches.Get rid of these symptoms by getting the kidneys back to health and strength, and you will be able to enjoy life to-day as you did thirty years ago. De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills will help you to do this for a certainty.Thousands of people, many of them over seventy and eighty years of age, have testified to the marvellous benefit received from De Witt's Pills. These are made expressly for the kidneys and the bladder. And so they give immediate relief to old and young alike, for they are so sure yet so gentle in action that they can be taken with advantage even by the most delicate person.Why is it that De Witt's Pills have cured so many thousands of so-called "hopeless" cases even when everything else has failed? There is a secret and it is this: "De Witt's Pills are scientifically compounded expressly to act on the kidneys and the bladder; what is more they get there."When you take ordinary medicine, or so-called "backache" pills you often get poor results, for they never go near the kidneys.Now when you take De Witt's Pills, you will notice, within a few hours, that the urine has turned a muddy bluish color. You know by that positive proof that these wonderful little pills have passed through the kidneys and the bladder. You have the proof before your eyes.From that moment the cleansing of the kidneys and bladder commences and when the kidneys are thoroughly cleansed and healed of all impurities, the pains in your back and joints will disappear just as surely as the sun will rise to morrow morning.When you get the urine change to a muddy, bluish color, a feature which characterizes De Witt's Pills from all others, you know beyond all doubt that these have got their bearing upon the right spots—the kidneys and the bladder.
De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are sold by the million bottles annually in Great Britain alone.

Be Sure you get Genuine—

DeWITT'S PILLSSold by Chemists and Storekeepers throughout the world. De Witt's Pills are packed in Red and Gold boxes printed in blue, and every genuine box has a red seal on the top corner. If you are unable to obtain these

ADVICE TO WOMEN'S LEAGUE.

That the youth of this country has but a low opinion of its parents has long been revealed. The shibboleth of all modern and intellectual literature is contempt for fathers and mothers, says the Daily Telegraph. A chivalrous attempt has now been made to save the mother by throwing the father to the wolves. The members of the Women's Freedom League have assembled to consider the urgent question, "What place, if any, has the father in the home?" and she who was the chief speaker reported the words of a young man for whose opinion she seems to have a great respect, "Father should be hooped out," by which the youthful sage explained himself to mean that father should return to bachelor ways and serve the country with his work as before marriage.
We cannot tell why the Women's Freedom League should be influenced by a mere man, even a young man;
but we like this drastic fellow.The League seems to have thought that he was going rather far, sundry speakers, in their charity, suggesting mild amendments, such as that fathers should not be turned out but reformed, or not turned out before a good law had given them a chance to keep straight. What no Free Leagues discovered was the obvious fact that the anonymous young man was, to use his own style, pulling their legs.
We admire his courage. But in our own consideration of the League's proposals we dare not imitate him.
The Leagues are nothing if not serious, and whether their premises or their conclusions are more alarming is hard to decide. In every land, we read with stupefaction, public opinion has given man a supremacy in the home. We commend to the League the ancient story that, while Themistocles ruled Athens, the wife of Themistocles ruled him, and the son of Themistocles ruled her, which may be translated into modern life in the familiar phrase, "the principles that the real ruler of France is that great institution, the while the mother herself is wax in the hands of bebe. Or, if we are to limit ourselves to our own country,SOUTH SEA COLONISTS.*IDEAL ISLAND PLAN.

DISAPPROVED BY GOVERNMENT.

The Overseas Settlement Committee and Government Department considers as dangerous Mr. Rhodes Disher's expedition to take 40 pilgrims
to the Marquesas, in the South Seas, there to found an ideal self-supporting colony without taxes and strikes."We wrote to Mr. Disher," an official of the committee told a reporter "stating our belief that the venture was of a kind unlikely to prove of any permanent advantage to those taking part in it, who may easily find themselves involved in serious difficulties. We received no reply to our letters.""We have taken the opinion of the proper authorities, who consider that as the islands belong to France
the consent of the French Government is essential."Mr. Disher is undaunted by official disapproval. A reporter found him in his garden at Denmark Hill, S.E., enthusiastically making his plans."There will be no international complications," he said. "The French Government knows we are going, and is giving us active assistance."where shall we find the father who dares defy the demands of the nursery or economise upon its budget? The Women's Freedom League are generous in their recognition of human weakness. They pronounce
"with one clear voice in diverse tones," that the position of despot
would be just as bad for the woman as the man. In their own sex they have no more confidence than the other, thus displaying that rare phenomenon, a just, impartial pessimism. What invades their philosophy is not prejudice but a foundation upon a vacuum.
Their mental operations are carried on in a world where there are no facts. "Fathers may be drones, and may deserve to be hooped out" of the home as drones are banished from the hive. But they are no more despot than the drones, and to argue against their monstrous patris protektus is crying fire in Noah's flood. The rulers of the family are the younger generation, and the social problem is not to limit the functions of the father, but to discover any reason for his continued existence. It is a desperate quest. We commend to the Free Leagues another entomological illustration. Among the spiders, an industrious and thriving race, the fathers upon marriage are slain and devoured.THE NEW

ADVERSARIA.

Although I personally am too old UNSPEAKABLE to have any use for balls, St. Andrew's annual dis-sipation easily figures as the event of the week, and I am obliged to make a few notes on it. Although my "spiritual home" (as Haldane would say) is America, I was born on the English side of the Border, within a half day's ride of it. I see Chief Johnstone was bragging about the way his forebears were successful cattle-reivers. My ancestors did a bit in that line too, but they had souls above siller, and liked the sport of it. On wet Sundays the lads would look at one another, and say, "What'll we do to-day? Broke or tod or trout?" "And one would say, 'Let's ride over and kill a Scotsman,' the which would be unanimously agreed to, for it seemed a good deed in those days.

I hope my Daily Press friends will INFLUENCE now see that these national balls are not an imperial binding and cementing influence, as they said on Wednesday morning, but provocations to family jars. How can I bear unmoved to think of the bonny battle that Johnstone's great-great-grandfather stole from mine? At least, until I recall that the men of Our House raided the Johnstones and the Jardines and brought back over the mooses a little more than their own? And while I boast of that, that we all were killed more Johnstones and collected more beehives than they did, how are the Scots to sit easy and feel a complacent joint-interest in that great and glorious empire on which the sun dare not set on account (they say) of the wide spread distribution of the Scots? For they are widespread. Chief Johnstone unfeelingly rubbed it in that he and his race get all the No. 1 jobs and the biggest salaries, and the only way I, thinking of my poor low wage, can get even is to recall that old French rhyme which says that wherever in the wide world you go you will find rats, fleas, and Scotsmen. (Rat, puce, Ecossais.)

As a matter of fact I HAVE I like most Scots better than I like most SCOTS. Englishmen. They have brains. English may have brains also, but they don't seem to use them. Scotsmen, most of them, do. The finest Scot of them all was Robert Burns, and he was not for ever harping on these small tribal distinctions. He looked forward to the time when man to man the wide world o'er shall brothers be—which is a worthier and nobler thing than getting together in a small bunch to boast about such peculiarities as red hair, and kilts, and a devotion to whisky. More-over and forby, and mind I'm telling ye, the St. George's affair is just as bad, and has caused offence among the haggis-eaters by tactless speeches in the past. I want to offend both parties, so they will be ashamed of their sectarian, clan-nish, segregations, and get together and give a grand Hongkong Democratic Ball, if it's a ball they want, and not a midden to crow on. Every such emphasis of a component race is, so far as the unity of our Empire is concerned, in effect as bad as the Irish demand for separation.

Everybody knows THERE ARE that the Scots are SCOTS and like any other folk. SCOTS. They have bonny and agly, wise and foolish, good and bad. I'd sooner sleep with a good Scotsman than a bad Englishman, especially if I had taken the precaution to leave my valuables in the hotel safe. But I was thinking about this suggestion that St. Andrew's Balls and Burns Nights foster patriotism. If I were a Scotsman of a certain class, I'd turn a raging Bolshevik on being addressed by Scots of a certain other class. Let me quote a few lines from the now almost forgotten works of Thordolf Rogers. Speaking of the same kind of thieving cut-throat Scots that Chief Johnstone did, he said:

Debarred from robbing others, desperate grown,
The Highland chieftain stooped to rob his own;
Drove out his kinsfolk for his proper greed,
Contrived a desert, and defended the dead.

And why? Of yore, far from their native soil,
Chieftains and clansmen hurried to the spoil;
The head to plan the raid, the arm to fight,
Were useful in those days of dubious right.

But now the chieftain wins far greater gains,
Without their presence, and without their pains,
Thus they who did his bidding in that day
Are, in these happier times, touch best away.

Since they're no use, let solitude reign;
On fell and loch and hill her ancient reign.

A herd of deer bears now a higher worth
Than all the Highlandmen who fought at Perth.

They were, if tales are true, a gallant race,
But grown superfluous, game deserves their place.
Persuaded, but not harried, as of old
The weary Saxon gladly gives his gold.

Pays down a mighty rent, nor thinks it dear
To act the Crusoe once or twice a year.
On one condition is the money paid,
Game must be there, and solitude be made.

The clustered hamlet and the house of prayer
Are roofless, wasted, ruined, bleak and bare.

Where children played beside the rustling stream,
The raven croaks his wail, the owlets scream.

Where maidens gathered by the forest lake
The crouching fox creeps slowly through the brake.

High o'er the graves the grass is rank and deep
And there the red deer may in quiet sleep.

A thousand clansmen gathered in the glen,
The hillside now can hardly muster ten.

Think you the victims of these bargains glance
With kindly eyes across the blue expanse?

Exiled, and settled in a distant spot
Think you they dwell with meekness on their lot?

Or bless the power which forces them to roam
Far from their fathers' graves, their fathers' home?

These lines were written many years ago, with special reference to McLeod's Sutherlandshire Clearances, and now, perhaps, many a proletarian Scot, dwelling with meekness on his lot, for the simple reason that he has forgot.

The same author THE CANNY had these amusing lines on the "canniness" of a meenister:

A Scot who knew his crimes, and felt their weight,
Balanced his dealings and forecast his fate.

'Aked a good person, if salvation's work
Could be made safe by giving to the Kirk;

'And got this answer—"It is hard to buy
The boon you ask, but well worth while to try."

Already some of 'em ARE accepting VICE-WITH THE "Admiral Anstruther's WAR?" letter to The Times as a defence of this Colony's part in the war.

Assuming that naval units tempo-arily stationed at Hongkong did all he claims they did, "we" have no right to boast. Hongkong's war record is most faithfully displayed in the minutes of the Chamber of Commerce, and the less said about it the better.

I read that all those RAWKERS, wee lassies we saw on the streets on Wednesday managed to sell $3,000 worth of artificial roses. Did they all have hawkers' licences? And if not, how was the law got over?

WAR MEMORIAL. They are saying that public subscrip-tions for our war memorial will be made at the rich Chinese to save it; and that, failing them, some way will be found of showing it on the taxes. But that was before the public meeting of Thursday, of which I will talk presently.

Surely the report-ers have misreport-ed Mr. R. B. M. UNIVERSITY MAN'S Simpson of the University, who would never have said that geo-graphically the Near East is the hub of the universe. A university man ought to know the meaning of the word universe. Even if he called it the hub of the world, it was a loose expression, for only wheels have hubs, and the world isn't a wheel. It is more like a haggis.

When opening the vernacular free school erected by the Tung Wah Hospital Committee, His Ex. said: "It is a great satisfaction to find that the representatives of the Chinese community of Hongkong realize that the provision of educa-tional facilities is not a matter which can, or should, be left wholly to the Government." In view of that plain statement, and the recent announcement about our public bathing beaches, I am wonder-ing what our Government imagines it is for.

It seems to be a sort of glorified Indian watchman, charged with the safety of the property of the well-to-do, and as regards that I'll admit it never goes to sleep.

At the Church Con-gress, the Bishop of Chelmsford, presiding, said: "Chris-tianity is international."

The Church must stand solidly for the League of Nations, as op-posed to militarism and a false and deader view of nationalism.

Dean Inge said: "The L.O.N. had a difficult task, but the alterna-tive was a mutual suicide club." He quoted Edith Cavell's "Patriotism is not enough."

Lord Robert Cecil said: "We must be ready to work for the well-being of the world as a whole rather than for our own nation exclusively." I am for the Church if it keeps up that note.

But how about our local Christians, and our local church's message to them? Christianity isn't something for Sundays; it should colour every single thing that Christians do. Did it colour our local anti-German legislation, that drove away the German ladies from the Blind Home? It is a hard fight to be a Christian among wicked men—I know that—but until I see them fighting, instead of slacking, I withhold my respect.

I had a chat with Mr. Y.M.C.A. J. L. McPherson of the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday, and he made me feel that I had been a little unjust to the Y.M.C.A. here. He assured me that while each centre makes its own rules, the Hongkong directors were not likely to be "narrow."

I reminded him that in the old days they seemed too "broad," and of the scandals associated with the old European Y.M.C.A. That was where he convinced me of in-justice. He remembered each case, and told me what the Directors did about it, showing that they were not to blame. He also scored a neat point. He said it isn't an associa-tion for young Christians (as which I could jeer at the members) but a Christian Association for young men, which, after all, is an import-ant distinction. The young men do need a better conducted place than those they are accustomed to, and a club run on Christian lines (not too "narrow") must be good for them. So now I'm a "barack-er" or "booster" for the New Club, and wish it success.

News is puding to a GRUMBLE. A paper, Praise is pleasant, but not nourishing. I want to remind those whom the China Mail has helped, and who praise us for it, of the injustice which originated the satirical line:

"Foes are on pudding fed, and friends on praise."

When you have pudding to give away, see that your friends get it first.

Here's a bit from DOLLAR. Thordolf Rogers that may "epete" one or two here:

Men gather money with such reckless haste
That while they save, they don't see what they waste.

All kindly sympathies of human life
Are trodden out amid the reckless strife;

What sense has that man of the nobler joys
Whose heart is full of dirt, whose head of noise?

Whose mind is bent so wholly upon self
That he disdains what is not like himself?

Who thinks his dress the grand-est thing on earth,
And by his money only measures worth;

Who always fancies that the meanest vice,
The loftiest virtue, has a market price;

Who's truthful, since he knows there's loss in doubt;
Who's honest, only since he's not found out?

Now let him save, scrape, labour to the end,
Forfeit peace, wisdom, honour, own no friend.

Bury his heart inside his gather-ed store;
(He gains this only, and he gains no more.)

One sentence tells the substance of his claims—
One sentence represents his highest aims:

"There's a twopence-halfpenny turns up his nose,
And scorns the wealth which twopence-farthing shows."

Some of the old poets were very scathing. I OLD. do not suppose many of you will have come across the works of Galkowbarrow Mockekin, who did for the Bible stories what La Fontaine did for Aesop's Fables.

The wickedness of man Was as kenspeckle then—
It repented the Creator That He ever made men.

He grieved and repented And willed to wipe the slate—
By washing the world clean With all His seas in spate.

But Noah a rich man Built him a ship
Selling to the richest A round safety trip.

So when the seas subsided And life was safe ashore
Out of the ark the Moneygrubs did pour,
Spread their wealth and wicked-ness.

The whole world about, Till men are worse than ever
As we see without a doubt.

It is related how PARABLE OF once the horse and the stag could not agree to share the pasture, but contended for the monopoly of it. By means of his art, the stag was able to drive away the horse, and reigned alone in clover. The horse appealed to man for help, and the man agreed to help if the horse would consent to be saddled and bridled. Thus man on horseback drove the stag away, but the horse had the bit in his mouth ever since. Now the horse in this parable typifies national man, the stag jealousy and fear, and the rider militarism.

"I cannot sleep CACOTHEES, unless what'er I think is miswired by the aid of pen and ink."

"Year after year, the noisy mis-OF THE ACTA chief grows. From DIBENA dawn to dark its penny trumpet blows. Scolds, threatens, flatters, hides or strains the facts. Boldly defames, or secretly detests; And screaming out the passion of the hour Defends one's ears with fifty-donkey power."

It is on the whole ON FEELING a good thing to feel unwell occasionally.

In robust, uncon-scious health, one is apt to man-ufacture troubles and ignore threat-ings. Ill health, being a threat to life, enhances the value of the thing threatened. One bears the pain of the threat philosophically, and is acutely aware that things might be worse. Such small, simple pleasures as are possible to the sick are the more keenly enjoyed. Colours appear brighter, tobacco (except in the critical stages) sweeter. Mere peace is an asset. In health, one would wish to be in the hurrying throng after active pleasures, and feel out of it if one could not join in; but thus it is sweet to lie in bed, to rest, to really make the acquaintance of the things one has lived with unconsciously. And after all it is more thrilling than a League Match, this battle that one watches, between the health germs and the disease germs. Much more than a Cup hangs on the issue. As first one, then the other, seems to gain a little, the tides of emotion gently ebb and flow, as exhilarating, in their way, as the life outside. Moreover, it is now possible to savour more fully the solace of books.

The China Mail has been approach-ed by a considerable number of people this week, all pleading inability to write letters, and anxious that we should publish the results of their discussion of the War Memorial question. They were told that there is no question; that every-thing is cut and dried; that no practical purpose can be served by fresh suggestions, as the Panjan-drum will have their own way. But, they said, "we have still to subscribe, and it can do no harm to let them know what we think." But that way, we relented. As dictated to me, their views were as follows:

Pier to be made at Statue Wharf. Let the War Memorial be two simple figures at the end of the pier, one a soldier, the other a sailor. Rather than sell the Bathing Beaches for commercial develop-ment, sell the "Finest Site."

There, briefly, are the views of a considerable number who will be expected to subscribe.

The public meeting THE PUBLIC to discuss a Y.M.C.A. MEETING. Club put the War Memorial scheme in new light, and considerably changed its phase. It begins to look like a quite subordinate scheme, as, indeed, it deserves to be. The Chairman of the War Memorial Committee actually confessed that it was now evident there existed a feeling in the Colony that the large sum voted for the memorial could be employed to better advantage.

An emergency meeting of the Committee on Thursday morning had decided to support the Y.M.C.A. scheme in preference to "making our share in it our War Memorial." This meant that the Government could take back the "finest site," if it wished.

Mr. suggestion THE "FINEST" which was so SITE. indignantly re-pudiated at the time) was that the main idea for using the "finest site" in this or some such way was consideration for the Hongkong Club, which it adjoins. I described it as "the Club's cumsa garden." It was considered very naughty of me to say such things, right out loud. You will be able to believe, there-fore, that I was really amused when I read in the report of the Gover-nor's remarks that "he had made up his mind that, as far as he was able to prevent it, no building would be erected on the best site in the Colony, and that to prevent its being done he would support (although he had just said that statues were wasteful things) the raising of a statue there." If he stands to that, and at the same time allows our public Bathing beaches to be sold, I shall be able once more to point out to the people that in this Colony every-thing is run chiefly with an eye to the benefit of a certain class. There will be nothing else to say. The fact will be glaring.

So far as the Chi-nese and many Europeans are con-cerned, I know now what they feel about this, and what they intend to do as regards subscribing. I therefore offer the straight tip that the War Memorial be dropped entirely, ex-cept in so far as the new Club makes an excellent war memorial, and that subscription lists be con-fined to the Club Scheme, which will get general support. I mean that instead of Mr. Holyoak's proposal that the Club should be a part of the War Memorial scheme, it should be the whole scheme. This way it will succeed; the other way it risks failure; and I am every bit as arrogant as our Gover-nor, in disliking to be associated with a failure. Good triers have sometimes to meet failure, never-theless.

I am a civilian. MR. HOLYOAK'S I associate habitually with soldiers and sailors, eat and drink and talk and play games with them. I never discovered any reason why I shouldn't. But then, I don't go to the Club, nor associate with the sailors—partly because I cannot afford it, partly because I don't like them, and partly because they don't like me. But when Mr. Holyoak in his peroration said, "speaking for the civilian popula-tion of this Colony, he would say that there was not one who would not be as pleased to go to the club and play a game of billiards with the soldiers and sailors as with his friends," he was talking humbug. Some of those who might go would go condescendingly—and be hated for it, because the soldier and sailor has his pride, and dislikes patron-age. Are they coming to the Y.M.C.A. billiard room in even-ing dress, this new and previously unheard of army of democrats?

Two years ago I was present in one of the canteens when Mr. Holyoak and a bunch of his friends were giving a "treat" to our gallant defenders. They all herd-ed together at one table at the top of the room, instead of mixing up with the lads, and the flow of patriotic hot-air that the lads had to breathe in, with their cumsa meat and drink, was terrible. What the heck is the use of being mealy-mouthed about such things?

So long as there are what they call "social distinctions"—here most-ly based on money rather than on culture—a speech like that will never be true, and no Y.M.C.A. will bring a millennium. But a club such as outlined, for sailors, soldiers, and civilians, will cer-tainly bring together in harmony very many who do not at present associate. There is something of the Masonic Lodge about a well-conducted Y.M.C.A. It is a ready-made home for the griffin and the stranger, where he is sure of a friendly reception.

I have already touch-ed on this, following my conversation with Mr. McPherson, but I want to say that unlike the Governor, I was not prejudiced against the Y.M.C.A. because I knew nothing about it. For one thing, I noticed the suspicious circumstance that everywhere the taipans, the employ-ing class, were fond of patron-izing it, and I knew there must be a reason, probably a selfish reason. It occurred to me that they regarded the Y.M.C.A. as a sort of forcing house for the meek, docile, tame, well-behaved kind of young men they prefer as em-ployees. I, of course, do not be-lieve that young men should be too docile or tame. They have polit-ical duties which require indepen-dence and boldness. But now, as I am assured that any young man is eligible for membership, regard-less of his social, religious, or polit-ical views, that objection falls. There is no reason why my type of young man should not enjoy the recreational and social facilities of a well-conducted club, and yet retain all that makes a good British citizen, a champion of the best British principles of citizenship.

The promise that NARROWNESS. we are to have a joint committee of management, including naval and military and civilian repre-sentatives who are not Y.M.C.A. members, is some guarantee against narrow-mindedness. For in spite of Mr. McPherson's assur-ance that the Hongkong commit-tee consists of broad minded men, you will be able to believe, there-fore, that I was really amused when I read in the report of the Gover-nor's remarks that "he had made up his mind that, as far as he was able to prevent it, no building would be erected on the best site in the Colony, and that to prevent its being done he would support (although he had just said that statues were wasteful things) the raising of a statue there." They all herd-ed together at one table at the top of the room, instead of mixing up with the lads, and the flow of patriotic hot-air that the lads had to breathe in, with their cumsa meat and drink, was terrible. What the heck is the use of being mealy-mouthed about such things?

So long as there are what they call "social distinctions"—here most-ly based on money rather than on culture—a speech like that will never be true, and no Y.M.C.A. will bring a millennium. But a club such as outlined, for sailors, soldiers, and civilians, will cer-tainly bring together in harmony very many who do not at present associate. There is something of the Masonic Lodge about a well-conducted Y.M.C.A. It is a ready-made home for the griffin and the stranger, where he is sure of a friendly reception.

I have already touch-ed on this, following my conversation with Mr. McPherson, but I want to say that unlike the Governor, I was not prejudiced against the Y.M.C.A. because I knew nothing about it. For one thing, I noticed the suspicious circumstance that everywhere the taipans, the employ-ing class, were fond of patron-izing it, and I knew there must be a reason, probably a selfish reason. It occurred to me that they regarded the Y.M.C.A. as a sort of forcing house for the meek, docile, tame, well-behaved kind of young men they prefer as em-ployees. I, of course, do not be-lieve that young men should be too docile or tame. They have polit-ical duties which require indepen-dence and boldness. But now, as I am assured that any young man is eligible for membership, regard-less of his social, religious, or polit-ical views, that objection falls. There is no reason why my type of young man should not enjoy the recreational and social facilities of a well-conducted club, and yet retain all that makes a good British citizen, a champion of the best British principles of citizenship.

The promise that NARROWNESS. we are to have a joint committee of management, including naval and military and civilian repre-sentatives who are not Y.M.C.A. members, is some guarantee against narrow-mindedness. For in spite of Mr. McPherson's assur-ance that the Hongkong commit-tee consists of broad minded men, you will be able to believe, there-fore, that I was really amused when I read in the report of the Gover-nor's remarks that "he had made up his mind that, as far as he was able to prevent it, no building would be erected on the best site in the Colony, and that to prevent its being done he would support (although he had just said that statues were wasteful things) the raising of a statue there." If he stands to that, and at the same time allows our public Bathing beaches to be sold, I shall be able once more to point out to the people that in this Colony every-thing is run chiefly with an eye to the benefit of a certain class. There will be nothing else to say. The fact will be glaring.

So far as the Chi-nese and many Europeans are con-cerned, I know now what they feel about this, and what they intend to do as regards subscribing. I therefore offer the straight tip that the War Memorial be dropped entirely, ex-cept in so far as the new Club makes an excellent war memorial, and that subscription lists be con-fined to the Club Scheme, which will get general support. I mean that instead of Mr. Holyoak's proposal that the Club should be a part of the War Memorial scheme, it should be the whole scheme. This way it will succeed; the other way it risks failure; and I am every bit as arrogant as our Gover-nor, in disliking to be associated with a failure. Good triers have sometimes to meet failure, never-theless.

I am a civilian. MR. HOLYOAK'S I associate habitually with soldiers and sailors, eat and drink and talk and play games with them. I never discovered any reason why I shouldn't. But then, I don't go to the Club, nor associate with the sailors—partly because I cannot afford it, partly because I don't like them, and partly because they don't like me. But when Mr. Holyoak in his peroration said, "speaking for the civilian popula-tion of this Colony, he would say that there was not one who would not be as pleased to go to the club and play a game of billiards with the soldiers and sailors as with his friends," he was talking humbug. Some of those who might go would go condescendingly—and be hated for it, because the soldier and sailor has his pride, and dislikes patron-age. Are they coming to the Y.M.C.A. billiard room in even-ing dress, this new and previously unheard of army of democrats?

Two years ago I was present in one of the canteens when Mr. Holyoak and a bunch of his friends were giving a "treat" to our gallant defenders. They all herd-ed together at one table at the top of the room, instead of mixing up with the lads, and the flow of patriotic hot-air that the lads had to breathe in, with their cumsa meat and drink, was terrible. What the heck is the use of being mealy-mouthed about such things?

POLLY PUT THE KETTLE ON.

Polly and Sukey, who were sisters, lived in a cottage on the moors, miles away from anyone.

Sometimes they walked into the town to do their shopping but, as a rule they had very little money with which to buy anything. They kept bees and they had one cow, so had plenty of milk and honey and they lived mostly on honey and also fish, which they caught in a river near by.

They had a fire too, when they wanted it, as there were always sticks to be found and they did not feel that they were badly off. In fact they were both very cheery and happy.

Only just occasionally they did wish that they had a little more money so that they could buy a few extra things.

One afternoon it was Polly's birthday and they were just going to have tea. Sukey was saying, "I do wish Polly that I had been able to get you a cake, but you know how it is. I simply have no money at all."

"Never mind Sukey dear," Polly answered, "Our bread and honey is very nice and we will have a special lot of honey to-day and some tea instead of milk."

As she was speaking there came a sharp knock at the door.

"Whoever can that be?" cried Sukey, for hardly anyone came to that lonely spot.

She ran to open the door and saw an old, white-haired woman. But what a queer old woman! She was dressed in bright pink and all round her gay dress were wreaths of flowers which looked exactly as if they were made of living sugar. On one arm she carried a large basket and in this was a parcel done up in white paper and tied with ribbon.

"Good-afternoon, my dears," said this strange person.

"Good-afternoon," the sisters answered, and Sukey added,

"We are just going to have tea. There is only bread and honey but if you will share it with us we shall be very pleased," and she called out to Polly, who had gone off to fetch another plate.

"Polly put the kettle on, Polly put the kettle on, Polly put the kettle on, we'll all have tea," the old woman replied, as she came in. "You are very kind, especially as it is Polly's birthday and you have no bread and honey to spare."

"But how did you know that it was Polly's birthday?" said Sukey.

"Of course I know all about birthdays," their visitor answered, "I am The Birthday Cake Maker and I have come to bring you a cake."

And she took the parcel out of her basket and handed it to Polly.

"Oh thank you so very much," Polly said and she undid the parcel and there was the most beautiful birthday cake that you have seen, all pink and white icing with "Polly" written on it in large letters.

How happy they all were! Sukey made the tea (but she left the kettle on the fire in case they should want any more hot water) and they all had the bread and honey and then big slices of the birthday cake.

When they had nearly finished there was a knock at the door again and in came another old woman, carrying a basket.

"Good-afternoon, Polly," she said, "I have brought you a present too." She handed her the basket and in it was a dear little brown dog, which jumped out as soon as the lid was opened and frisked around.

Polly was delighted and the old woman said, "Look in the basket again and you will find the bone which never grows old and every day the dog (whose name is The Company Keeper) will get more and more meat off it. You must be careful though that Company Keeper does not jump over the moon or he may come down miles away and then you would lose him."

"I will be very careful," Polly answered, and Sukey and I have wanted a dog for years to keep us company and we shall take the greatest care of him."

Then Sukey made some tea and they all had another piece of the birthday cake and after that the old woman said they must go. So they all said good-bye and Polly told them that it was the nicest birthday she had ever had.

The sisters stood at the door and waved until the old women were out of sight and when they went in and shut the door Polly said,

"Sukey take the kettle off, Sukey take the kettle off, Sukey take the kettle off, they've all gone away."

CANTON ADMINISTRATION.

CONSTITUTIONAL LEADERS.

FIRST MANIFESTO ISSUED.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen, Dr. Wu Ting-fang, Mr. Tang Shao-yi, and General Tang Chi-yao, in a manifesto, issued yesterday, unofficially translated, stated, in part, as follows:

We, compelled by the lawlessness of the North against the country, were obliged to create in Canton a Constitutional Government some time ago. Treason within, however, has impeded the progress of the movement. Now all the obstacles have been removed; and at the commencement of the present reconstruction programme, we deem it proper to reassert our aims and purpose.

The Republic of China has been in existence for the last nine years. During all this time, no advance could be recorded. First Yuan Shih-kai conspired to become emperor, and he was then followed by the plot of the Tsuchun, or Military Government, to dominate the land with militarism and by the attempt of Chang Hsun to restore the monarchy. Nothing has been done, by the North, for the improvement of the country through reconstruction measures.

"Now with the Constitutional Provinces as the basis of operation, we shall labour towards the inauguration of self-government and common education, promotion of industry and better means of communications so as to improve the livelihood of the people, reform of the official system and public finance, abolition of the Tsuchun system and the disbandment of superfluous troops. We hope, by these means, to bring peace and prosperity to the country and effect a government of and by the people and make China safe for democracy."

Canton saw another long and enthusiastic parade last Wednesday afternoon, when more than 10,000 citizens, including school boys and girls marched in honour of the total prohibition of gambling in Kwangtung.

The Company Keeper had a good feast off his bone and a drink of milk. Polly and Sukey washed up the tea things and put away the rest of the cake in a tin and they were all as happy as they could be.

PETER PAN.

OPENING DOORS.

I think it's very awkward when you're really rather small To get into the grown-up's rooms, Doors handles are so tall.

My mother calls them "high up," Though I don't know why she should. I can't say all their different words And "tall" is just as good.

Now sometimes in the mornings When my Mummy is in bed I knock upon her door and say "Get up you sleepy head!"

And then she says "Come in Dick" And "Turn the handle dear" But oh it is a business, I'm sometimes cross I fear.

My mother says it's easy, I don't think she can know, She doesn't have to use both hands And stand upon tip-toe!

What does the GLARING Morning Post INCONSISTENT want? After noting, this morning, apparently with approval, that our public meeting "provided a distinct departure from the cut-and-dried procedure to which the Colony has so long been accustomed," it complains that there was "just a little too much" speechifying. Seeing that the proposed expenditure was five lakhs, I don't agree with the comment. Anyway, I'd rather have the oratory than the cut-and-dried, framed and glazed, dodges we are used to.

GOOD INTENTIONS.

STOWAWAY FINED.

A FRIEND IN NEED.

Alexander Victor Argon, who was yesterday remanded on a charge of having stowed away on board the E. & A. ss. "Kanowna," was again before Magistrate Orme this morning.

Mr. D. J. Lewis who appeared on behalf of Messrs. Macdonald, Mackenzie and Co., the ship agents, informed the Magistrate that the company took a very serious view of the case, in view of the prevalence of offences of this description. The ordinance under which the defendant was charged, said Counsel, also took a serious view of the offence, providing for a fine not exceeding $1,000, and in addition, not as an option, a term of imprisonment with hard labour not exceeding nine months. The ordinance, added Counsel, was passed in 1903, when conditions were different from those at present with all the regulations of the various countries to be complied with, plus police regulations.

The Magistrate: The defendant was going to Australia.

Mr. Lewis: The ship would have been heavily fined had he got through to Australia, and then he would have had to be taken back to the place whence he started, at the ship's expense. The defendant would have in effect defrauded the Company out of passage money to and from Australia, plus food, both ways. Cases of this sort were by no means isolated.

The Magistrate: They constitute a nuisance to the Companies concerned.

Mr. Lewis: Yes, and considerable loss.

Inspector Spear produced a letter from Mr. Lee of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co. The Inspector stated that yesterday he took the defendant to see Mr. Lee, and after the circumstances had been explained to him, the latter had agreed to pay the defendant's fine if it were not too high, and to provide the defendant with a passage to Australia.

Mr. Lewis: The Captain of the "Kanowna" had been subjected to considerable inconvenience by having to change his course and transfer the defendant to the "St. Albans" to be brought to Hongkong. I must ask for a heavy penalty.

Inspector Spear said that he was convinced that this was a case in which the defendant, not having any money, had boarded the "Kanowna" with the intention of paying the passage on arrival at Sydney where he hoped to get money from friends. It was not, as had been suggested, done for a joke or bet.

Mr. Lewis: The defendant probably had some Chinese friends on board who provided him with food throughout the voyage.

The Magistrate: He gave himself up to the Captain.

Mr. Lewis: I am instructed that he did give himself up to the Captain, he did so because he had to. The Magistrate: What is the cost of a passage ticket?

Mr. Ross: $52.15.

Mr. Lewis: And the return fare would be the same.

The Magistrate said he would like to know if Mr. Lee were prepared to recompense the P. & O. Co., for all the trouble it had taken.

Mr. Lewis: I understand that Mr. Lee was prepared to assist the defendant, but to what extent I do not know.

Remembering that he did not think this was a case which deserved jail without any option, the Magistrate imposed a fine of $100 or one month's imprisonment with hard labour, and instructed Mr. Ross to interview Mr. Lee with regard to defraying whatever expenses the P. & O. had incurred.

WHOOPIING COUGH.

FIRE ALARMS.

TWO STRENUOUS FIGHTS.

TEA DEALERS' SHOP GUTTED.

About 9.20 p.m. yesterday, a fire broke out at No. 7, Cheongching Street, West Point. The alarm was at once given and the Fire Brigade was promptly on the scene.

The fire broke out on the ground floor occupied by the Sun Hing firm of importers and exporters, and tea dealers. It had taken a strong hold by the time the fire brigade arrived, with the result that a strenuous fight had to be made against furious flames fed by the wooden boxes and dried tea leaves. The flames were rapidly increasing in volume, but after about half an hour's hard work, they were subdued and eventually extinguished. The whole stock of tea, valued at $8,000, was damaged either by fire or by water.

The premises are insured with the Union Insurance Society of Canton for $400, and with a Chinese company for $5,500. The cause of the outbreak is unknown.

EARLY MORNING BLAZE.

At 2.15 this morning, the brigade was again called out, this time to attend to a fire in Tung Street, near the New Western Market. This fire was also a strenuous one, and it was a considerable time before the flames were extinguished. The extent of damage to this house is not yet known. The origin of this outbreak is also a mystery.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The Governor is honorary colonel of the V. D. C.

Mr. W. E. Shenck is recognized as American vice-consul.

CUTICURA HEALS BURNING ITCHING

Breaking Out On Face. Very Painful. Did Not Get Any Sleep.

"I had a breaking out on my face that was very painful. It began like a pimple, and when it came to a head water ran down my cheek and everywhere it touched it burned terribly. I did not get a bit of sleep with the itching and burning."

"I saw an advertisement for Cuticura and I thought I would try them. I found great relief with the first application, and one box of Cuticura Ointment with the Cuticura Soap healed me." (Signed) Mrs. Mary M. Day, 31 Cherry St., Bedford, Eng.

With an apparent tendency to skin troubles you should use these fragrant emollients for toilet purposes. Soap to cleanse, Ointment to heal.

See 1 lb. Ointment, 25c and 50c. Sold everywhere. Cuticura Soap, 25c and 50c. Sold everywhere. (For small orders write to: "Cuticura" Soap, Albany, N.Y., U.S.A.)

A GERM DESTROYER.

THERE is no danger whatever from lock-jaw or blood poison resulting from a wound when Chamberlain's Pain Balm is promptly applied. It is an antiseptic and destroys the germs which cause these diseases. It also causes wounds to heal without infection and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. Passengers to Europe are strongly urged to determine the exact date of the Atlantic crossing before they depart from the Orient. Trade conditions on the Atlantic are as congested as ever for all passengers to Europe, whether or not crossing the Pacific via C.P.O.S. steamers. Frequent sailings to America to Liverpool, London and Glasgow. Passage offers unusual value.

"For the Blood is the Life."

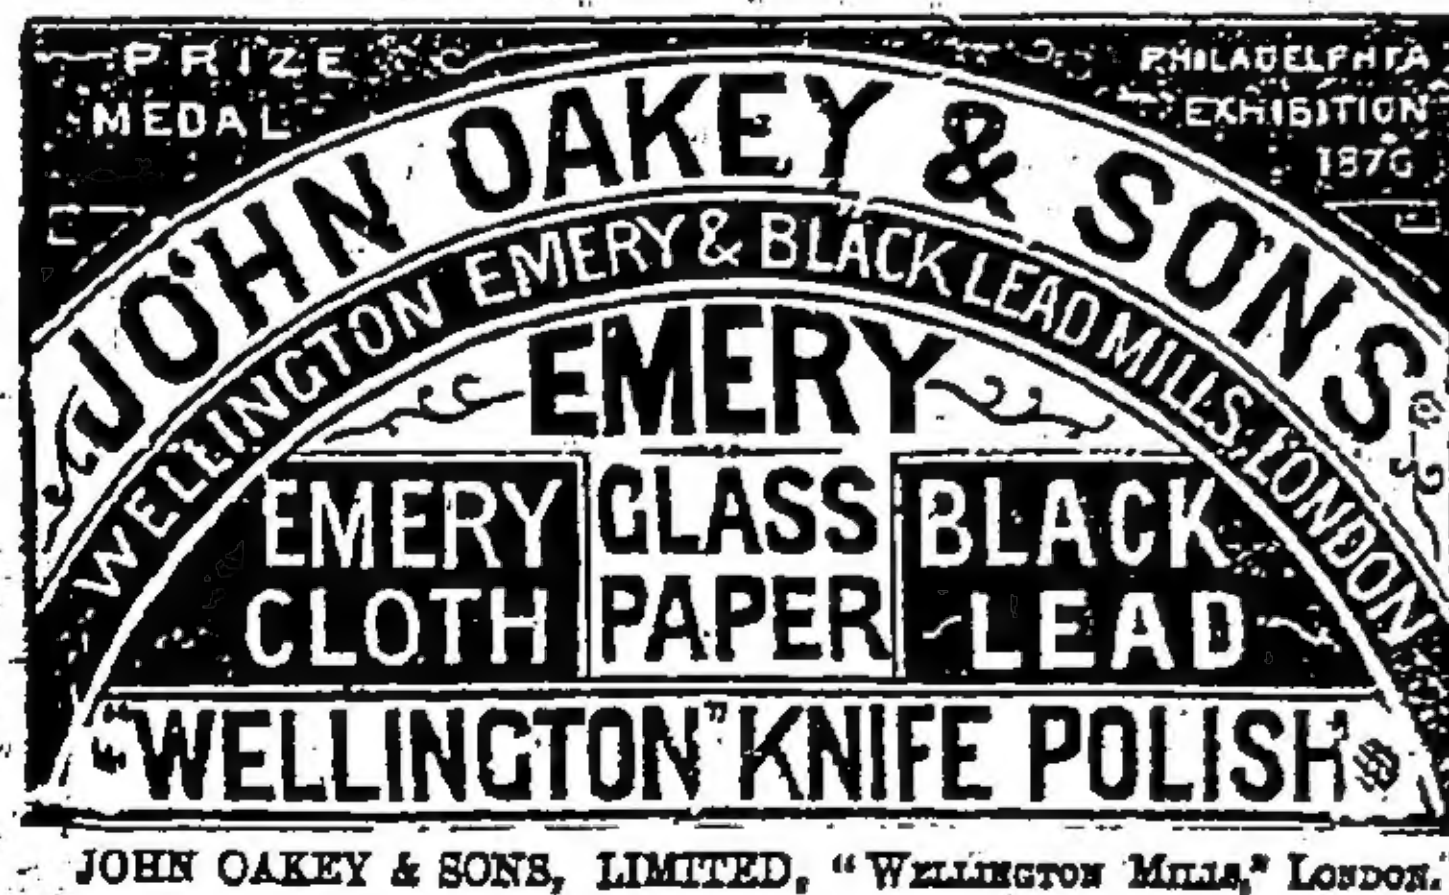

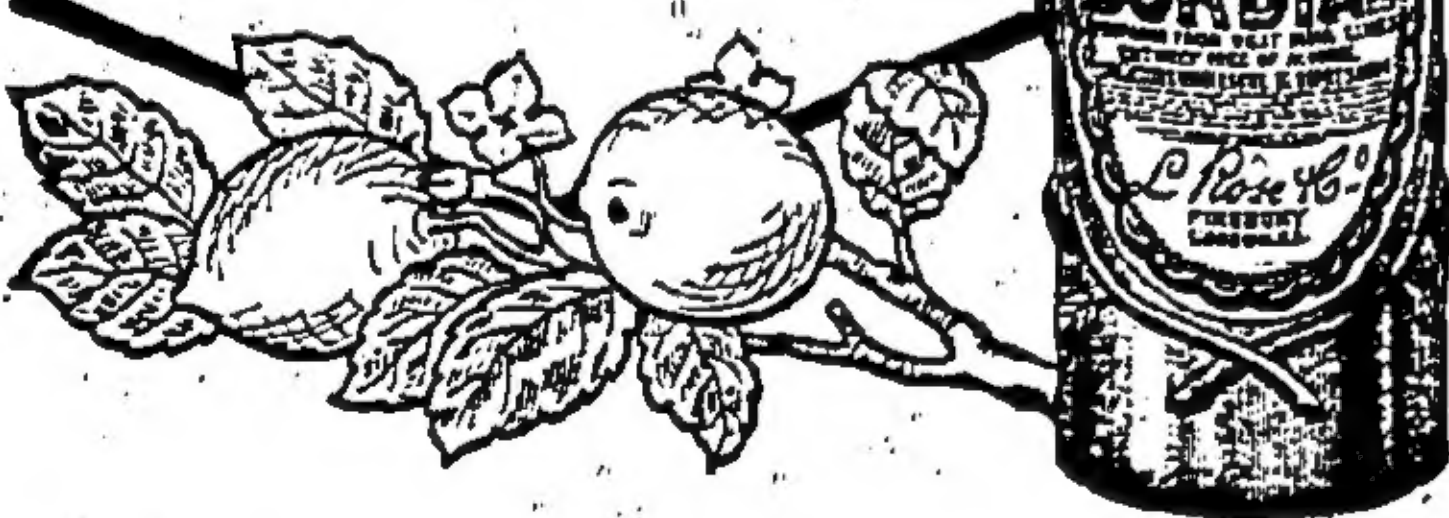

YOUR BLOOD WANTS
PURIFYING.IF YOU are troubled with Eczema,
Blotches, Spots, Pimples,
Boils, Sores, or Eruptions of any kind continually bursting through the skin.IF YOU have that constant itching and inflammation of PilesIF YOU are suffering the aches
and pains of Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Scrofulous
and Ulcerated Sores, Glandular Swellings, Blood Poison, etc.IF YOU are in the grip of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Gout, etc.

All these are sure signs of clogging blood impurity, calling for immediate treatment through the blood, so don't waste your time and money on "cure-alls" and messy ointments, which cannot get below the surface of the skin. What you want and what you must have is a medicine that will get right to the roots of your trouble, a medicine that will thoroughly free the blood of the poisonous matter which alone is the true cause of all your suffering. Clarke's Blood Mixture is just such a medicine. It is composed of ingredients which quickly attack, overcome, and expel from the blood all impurities (from whatever cause arising), and by rendering it clean and pure, can be relied on to effect a lasting cure.

The True Value of CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE
is testified by a most remarkable collection of unolicited testimonials from grateful patients of all classes—patients who have been cured after doctors and hospitals have given them up as incurable—patients who have been cured
after trying many other treatments without success—patients who not only have been cured of the particular Skin of Blood Complaint from which they were suffering, but also have found great improvement in their general health. (See pamphlet round bottle.)

"Carlisle" Reserves, Sookumpoo
ground, at 2.30 p.m. Referee, Mr.
Jones, R.N.

S.C.A. Reserves v. Indian Recreation
Club, S.C.A. ground, at 4 p.m.
Referee, Mr. Samuels, R.N.

Kowloon Reserves v. St. Joseph's, St. Joseph's ground, at 4 p.m. Referee, Mr. Sayer, R.N.

A full league programme has been arranged for to-day. H.M.S. "Ambrose" is the only League team not out.

Good football is expected in the Club v. R.G.A. match, which should draw a large crowd. The Civilians are fielding at their strongest, and the Artillerymen will have all their work cut to beat them. While the Club's forward line will be the same as usual, their defence will be considerably strengthened by the return of J. Rodger in the half back line.

The Artillery team will be the same as last Saturday, and as they are keen on winning, a very fast and evenly contested game is expected.
A draw is the most probable result,
but luck might give either side the two points.

The Services match at Sookumpoo Valley will also attract a large gathering. The game promises to be both fast and exciting, and, barring accidents, should result in a win for the soldiers.

On the Navy "A" ground, a very hard fought game is anticipated between the South China Athletics and the Police. The Chinese will be out to win, but as the Police are a combination to be reckoned with, they will have to play their best if they hope to secure the two points at stake. A draw is the most probable result.

The "Carlisle" having returned to the Colony after a long cruise up North, will meet the Kowloon F.C.
in their second League engagement to-day. A fast game is assured. The sailors have been seen only once in this League, and they gave a good account of themselves on that occasion. With the Civilians still unsettled, reconstructing their team with every match, the result is very uncertain.

The second division matches offer
more than usual interest to-day.

The Kowloon Reserves v. St.
Joseph's match will attract a large gathering of supporters of the respective Clubs. Both teams have been playing first class football, and with an equal number of points so far, the former playing two draws, and the latter losing only one match so far, much depends on the result of this match to put either team in the final with the R.G.A. The game ought to be keenly contested, with the result very uncertain. Kowloon will undoubtedly be out to preserve their unbeaten record, while the Collegians are keen in shattering it.

The second strings of the R.G.A.
and the "Carlisle" should play a very good game together. Considering previous performances, the sailors should win, having defeated the South China Reserves, who conquered the soldiers to the tune of 3 goals to 2.

As the Club Reserves will not be at their strongest to-day, the Staffs should have no difficulty in annexing
the two points at stake in this match.

There is very little doubt as to the results of the other matches. South China Reserves, Club de Recreo and United should win their respective engagements.

LEAGUE MEETING.

At a meeting of the League
Management Football Committee

Yesterday it was decided to hold a Civilian v. Services match on December 27 in aid of St. Dunstan's Home.
On New Year's Day a second division match in aid of a local charity, will be played, and on January 3, an international match, Scotland v. England.

THE CLUB v. R.G.A.

The following will represent the Club against the R.G.A. on the Club ground to-day, kick-off 4 p.m. sharp:—

Lawrence; M. L. Raiton, J. Rodger
and J. R. McPail; J. B. Hamilton, L.
Goldenberg, M. Sandberg, E. Moore
and N. Other.

CLUB 2ND v. STAFFS.

The following will represent the Club 2nd XI against the Staff and Departments on the Club ground, kick-off 2.30 p.m. sharp:—G. Groo;
Henderson and J. McClubb; A.
McDonald, W. Ireland and S. F.
Sorenson; L. Jack, E. Raiton, Pilger,
J. P. Sherry and A. Boysen.

FOOTBALL "OFF-SIDE."

A "Northern Referee" writes in a Home paper:

Various writers have referred recently to the evils arising from the
"off-side" law in Association football,
but no one has attempted to explain
the working of the law as it stands.

Most people in close touch with the game officially are aware of the ignorance prevalent in the average football crowd—and to less degree
among the players—as to the correct interpretation of the law. This ignorance is, of course, less among first-class players, but even they are not entirely exempt from the charge.

To have to admit that irritation among spectators is due to their lack of knowledge of the law and to suggest that it be abolished to reduce that trouble is much too drastic. It is probable that only a small proportion of a football crowd has even seen a copy of the laws of the game, much less studied them, and it will be found that these individuals are loudest in their abuse of the referee who fails to please them in his application of the law.

The wording of the law might conceivably be improved, but without doubt a few minutes intelligent study of it, and of the explanatory diagrams issued by the Football Association will enable anyone to obtain a complete grasp of it.

The common idea is that a player is "off-side" if he has fewer than three opponents in front of him when he gets the ball. That is the sort of idea which, while having a particle of truth in it, is so much short of the whole as to be the chief source of all the trouble.

Let us examine the law in detail.
Firstly, it must be understood that a player can never be "off-side" if he keeps behind the ball. Secondly, a player is always liable to be "off-side"
if he gets in front of the ball. Once the first point is thoroughly grasped, half the difficulties disappear and
"knotty points" are problems no longer.

What, then, are the other conditions applying before a player can be
"off-side" under "secondly"?
He must have at least three opponents in front of him when a member of his own side (behind him, recollect) plays the ball, or he is in an
"off-side" position. Then it is no offence simply to be in an "off-side" position; he must touch the ball, or interfere with the play, or with an opponent, before he may be penalised.

The football Association has repeatedly laid great stress on this point—so recently as last season it issued a special instruction that is worth quoting in full:

"Play should not be stopped and a player given 'off-side' under Law 6
because the player is in an 'off-side' position. A breach of the law is only committed when a player who is in an 'off-side' position interferes with an opponent or with the play."

The great point to notice is not the position of a player when he gets the ball but his position when it was last played by a member of his own side.

There is really very little else in it;
and there are only three cases where the foregoing statements do not strictly apply:

1. A player in his own half of the field at the moment the ball was previously played cannot be "off-
side."

2. A player is not "off-side" when the ball is kicked off from goal-either his own goal or his opponents';
and

3. A player is not "off-side" immediately following a throw-in.
It is hardly necessary to mention that players are placed "on-side"
when the ball touches an opponent or that a player cannot be "off-side"
from a corner-kick.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A ball is to be given by the St.
George's Society of Hongkong on the night of January 6.

Two gold tie pins valued at $20 were stolen yesterday afternoon from the bedroom of Major Bagnall, R.E., at No. 2 Chatham Road, Kowloon.

The wedding of Miss Madeline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Williams, Kennedy Road, and Mr. A. M.
Lindley, of s.s. "Chakrang," is announced to take place on January 10.

Last August reward of $30,000
was offered by the Chinese Government for the capture of "Little" Hsu. Since his flight the sum has been raised to $100,000. A number of detectives have already been despatched to Shanghai in search of him.

The remains of the late Mr.
Alexander George Grant Gordon, a very old resident of the Colony, will be buried on Monday evening. The funeral will pass the monument at 4.45 p.m. and the Rev. G. J. Williams of the Union Church will conduct the burial ceremony.

The wedding took place at St.
Joseph's Church, Shanghai, on Saturday afternoon last, of Mr. William Meddar Reeves, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Reeves of Acton, London,
and Miss Lucy E. Murray-Kidd, second daughter of Mr. G. Murray-Kidd, late of Shanghai.

Mr. Chan R. Johnson, Chief Engineer of the Canton Samshui Railway has resigned, owing, the Canton Times states, to a disagreement with the management under the new Director regarding the future policy and efficiency of the road. Mr.
Johnson will now most probably devote his attention to his commercial business. He has done much important business in Hongkong and real estate business in Canton. According to the Canton paper "he exported thousands of tons of wolfram to Europe and America during the early part of the World War and has made a very good profit on that business alone." Mr. Johnson is not only a good business man but also a railroad engineer of ability.

Our Range of Styles

There is no shoe manufacturer in the world who would not be glad to have this store for a customer.

There are no keener judges of shoes than the members of our Purchasing Department—their combined judgment is almost infallible.

Therefore we offer our customers the best shoes the world produces—the absolute best.

Our shoes are not only of the highest quality, but represent the full range of styles authorized by good taste and fashion.

As far as shoes are concerned, this store represents the centre of Styledom.

Buster Brown Shoes

Your children's feet need shoes that give them freedom of action—free from hurt or pain. Buster Brown Shaping Lasts are so fashioned that their tender feet will remain free from blemish. When you get these features combined with good style and long wearing qualities, you have a perfect children's shoe, or in other words, a Buster Brown Shoe.
